TODAY AND TOMORROW

Re-factor.—Willis Abbot has passed on. His loss means much to a vast number of humans. He was the Contributing Editor and one of the guiding spirits of that great international daily newspaper, the Christian Science Monitor. His daily column, "Watch the World Go By" was one of the most readable as well as one of the most uplifting features appearing in any newspaper. He reflected the wisdom, the kindness and the tolerance of men who have lived for 71 years and spent all of his lifetime in journalism.

Mr. Abbot was a varied and interesting career. He had worked on newspapers in every part of the United States, knew Selwyn, Canada, to speak, and was literally beloved by all who knew him. He was in such high esteem in his profession that it is not oversteating it to say that he was one of the great journalists of his time. He was a man of many talents, a man of many friends, a man of many regrets.

I have lost a personal friend, but the world has lost a great man.

Pantheon.—A gigantic picture in the form of a tapestry, a "Temple of all the Gods," to which the Romans had their pantheon, in the memories of their nation. It is a picture of the great men of the Great War have a pantheon of their own. It is the greatest ever put on canvas, in the largest hall in the world. It is a picture of the great men of the Great War have a pantheon of their own. It is the greatest ever put on canvas, in the largest hall in the world.

Great painting.—The "Partners of the War," is one of the most interesting features of the Century of Progress at Chicago. The artists who painted it from life in the trenches, and the men who were the heroes whose forms and memories are thus perpetuated are dead, but the picture itself is a living thing, and the great men who did not hesitate to die for their country are still alive in the minds of the people.

Self-sacrifice.—The men who have been concerned with the thinking of many who believe that progress in the world is hindered, that we need religion, that there are no worthwhile possibilities, that we are alone, that we are dividing up available jobs and that we must accept a lower standard of living.

That of course, is not true. Mr. St. John's reply to the question of opening up the vista of the future possibilities and certainties in store for the advancement of humanity's economic condition.

Light Rain Falls To Break Drought

Hot Winds and Sun Threaten to Sear Wheat Crops—Rain Must Fall Soon or Crop Will Be Ruined—Farmers Hopewares on Wages of Wind Front

Rain which fell Tuesday night and early Wednesday morning brought only three-thousandths of an inch of precipitation at Bassano and the dam according to C. P. R. D. N. Rain gauge readings. Counties received six-hundredths, and Gen. one-tenth.

Farmers report crops are showing signs of withering under the prolonged drought accompanied by hot winds. Surface moisture is all evaporated. In some moisture is found at a depth of a foot, but the ground is so dry that the wheat crop will be ruined.

Considerable damage from grasshoppers is reported in stubbled fields and where potatoes are being raised. Joe Hehn at Duck Lake lost 150 bushels of potatoes to the insects.

Grasshoppers, and heavy damage is reported on the plains. Farmers are hoping for rain to save their crops from the hoppers.

In the present, but the insects are so numerous some damage is being done. Hoppers are seen in the fields on prairie land and it is expected that they will be a great deal of damage as soon as they are large enough to do a great deal of damage.

At Makenzie and Hussar the moisture condition is said to be better. In these districts can hold out longer against the drought.

Spring Rainfall. In contrast to two and a half inches of rain which fell during May 1933, the precipitation at Bassano has been only half an inch. At Gem it has been somewhat greater. Spring weather this year has been unusually dry and the crops are suffering. The winds have been so strong that the ground is at a rapid rate.

The sugar beet growers and beet sugar manufacturers will get no federal aid and encouragement from the federal government this year. Dr. F. W. Gresham, M. P. for Medicine Hat, on Tuesday proposed to the government that the one cent tax on home-grown sugar be wiped out. The government declined the proposal.

Although the stampede crowd was not a record breaker, Huxar's sales May 24 was a good day. And had not so many farmers been spreading bumper produce to save their crops the stampede attendance would have been better. Anyway, it was a good day, and results show Huxar can put on a real stampede.

Ministers and the main highway between Huxar and Brooks, that the local gravel something of a nuisance. It will take a good week of rain to pick this gravel into the road.

There seems no doubt about the effects of a longer season of crops in Bytown. Farmers who have used it are pleased with results and claim it has killed millions of hoppers.

There are six different kinds of hoppers in Canada, we are informed. We have heard a man about six different kinds of cats, and when any one of the six different varieties of hoppers, scattered around him, he is a hatter.

IT'S UP TO THE PARENTS

Parents who are interested in giving their children a high school education would be greatly surprised if the high school union plan, which has been in operation for the past three years, was discontinued.

The only way to ensure a continuation of the plan is for parents whose children are attending high school to act promptly and sign up for another term. If the sign-up fails through lack of interest and lack of money, it will mean that grade 12 and possibly grade 11 will not be taught in Huxar next year. That would be a misfortune which is hardly necessary to emphasize.

In the absence of grades 11 and 12 at Huxar, parents with pupils attending these grades would be forced to pay the heavy expense of sending their boys and girls to the city if they wished them to continue their studies.

Grade 12 is not to be considered as equivalent to first year in university and there is no better or more economical way of getting this valuable training than right here at Huxar. The fate of the high school is in the hands of the parents. By agreeing to pay a small tuition fee for each student in their families, they can guarantee a continuance of the splendid educational facilities provided by the Huxar high school. By procrastination and indifference they can wreck the plan and deprive their children of the benefits of a high school training.

Hints For the Home

When you are handling potter articles, wash them and then dry thoroughly before you put them away with an iron. If an iron is put on potware when it is damp, the material will turn a darker color and become as stiff as though it had been starched instead of being soft and silky.

When black cloth becomes shiny, rub the spots with alcohol or kerosene.

Small, dainty pieces of laundry such as hosiery, fine handkerchiefs and neckties will wear much longer if they are put inside a bag to launder. They are seldom very dirty and need not be rubbed hard to clean.

Starch your linen before you mark it with indelible ink. The starch will prevent the ink from bleeding into the fabric. Starched spots can be removed by laying a thick paste of starch over the spots, making the paste with just enough water to make the starch stick well. Let the starch dry on the material and then scrub out thoroughly.

Try adding an apple to your vegetable soup. It improves the flavor greatly.

Left over rolls and biscuits may be freshened by placing them in a paper bag, tying the mouth securely, sprinkling the bag with water and placing the whole thing in the warming oven. They taste and feel like fresh ones.

If the rolls of your wringer are greasy, rub them with a bit of paraffin and the grease is easily removed.

When cheese is too soft to grate, cut it into small pieces and press it through a potato ricer.

A spreading fluid that is good for black silk and other black fabrics is made up in the following way: To two quarts of water add an ounce of ammonia, two ounces of borax and boil until dissolved. When this solution is cool, add a pint of alcohol.

HEALTH

THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION
AND THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT

FAT OR THIN

Hippocrates, the father of medicine, said: "Largeness of person is youth is noble and not unbefitting; but in old age it is inharmonious and worse than a smaller stature." From this it is evident that overweight and underweight are not new problems and that while styles may change and tastes differ, medical opinion has been consistently in favor of the young and plump and the old and thin.

The attitude of medical science is not an expression of artistic taste, but has its own artistic basis. It is the old, unchanging truth that slight overweight in youth is a health asset, whereas it becomes a liability after forty.

Medical scientists must not be interpreted literally in their application of age, for those who are slightly over or below the average would not be so at the present time in their youth. In such cases, there is no cause for worry, as there is no reason for attempting to increase or lower weight.

When the variation from the average is marked, then it is well to consider the subject not with alarm, but with caution. If there is any doubt, consult your physician, as it is a question of life.

Weight is not dependent upon diet alone. If a person eats too much he will put on weight and if he eats less than his body requires, he will lose weight. There is also involved the question of the proper direction of utilization of the foods that are eaten. This is linked up with all the hygienic habits of life.

Children who are deficiently nourished are usually children who do not receive sufficient rest. They are usually fat and they are like a point of view. No one can well stand tired and added rest will do more for many of these children than anything else. It should be said that children of this group seldom complain of being tired; if they do, they are usually active and always ready to "go places and see things."

Adults who are overweight have, in general, added weight because they continue to eat as much, and likely more, as they did when leading a more active physical life. It is not in adult life is a physical handicap. There is a performance for the fat and a performance for the thin. It is not a matter of being fat or thin, but of being healthy or unhealthy. The question of being fat or thin is not a matter of being fat or thin, but of being healthy or unhealthy. The question of being fat or thin is not a matter of being fat or thin, but of being healthy or unhealthy.

The Week at Ottawa

(by Dr. F. W. Gresham, M. P.)

On Tuesday the Lottery Bill was passed. The evidence against the bill for outwashed the evidence for it and the vote at the end of the day stood 105 against introducing State lotteries and 56 in favor of the same. All the party leaders were against the measure and chiefly because it had been given such a long trial in Great Britain and had finally been found illegal. State lotteries were born in India in England and expired by Act of Parliament in 1826.

Money quoted from a book which claimed that during the 257 years the morals were corrupted and a spirit of speculation and gambling was encouraged. He saw in these chances of chance a pernicious influence and an insidious tendency to cause to work, the effect of this being ruinous to the individual. Japan with 60 millions of people prohibit lotteries of every kind. There is a law in the Irish Free State that the hospitals received on a 5 per cent of the money raised. Private hospitals in Ireland had fallen by 50 per cent during the last five years and it was pointed out that people not the impression that hospitals were an unnecessary burden on the hospitals of the proceeds of the lotteries.

Mr. Gresham is to be approved that the House in the Criminal Code at present which gives the prize not to the person who won it but to the reformer should be changed.

The debate seemed to give some members the opportunity to refute others. There are some of the same but none of them are so far in proving fore-sight may be with.

The first lot scheme of nine years ago was a failure.

In the Garden

Summer Cure

Now that the summer season is here, when the garden should be about over until fall, and the next three months be unalloyed satisfaction. Of course it is not too late to put in several rows of vegetables. Summer radish, late beets, turnips and carrots, cress lettuce, which will not go to seed or become bitter, late celery and corn and well started cabbage, and cauliflower plants, may all be planted at intervals right up until July and will give some return in most parts of Canada. Well started flower plants and many seeds will also provide late summer and fall bloom. The garden should be cultivated at least once a week until mid-July, and the grass cut once and regularly every four or five days until the weather turns of late in the fall. It is not too late to be as often or as short. It is a good plan to make an application of commercial fertilizer in June. All fading bloom must be removed from these little wire flowers which must be as often or as short. It is a good plan to make an application of commercial fertilizer in June. Insect enemies are divided into two classes, those that eat the foliage and those that suck the juices. For the first-named, poison is usually applied, while the second class is usually killed with insecticides.

The 1934 road map of Alberta was recently issued by the provincial government. The map shows paved, gravelled, earth, and local roads in the province from the international boundary to Fort McMurray in the north.

On the back of the map is printed information on Alberta's lake and summer resorts, national parks, hotels and auto camps, historic sites, natural resources, fishing and game, and other information for the tourist. Copies of the map may be obtained at news stands, hotels, or from motor associations.

Oh, take me back to days of yesterday When as a child I skipped and romped and played As in a dream. Knowing not the stern realities of life. The old ways, and vain regret, the heartache and the fear But since that cannot be, just let me sleep and dream. Of truth, beauty, love, and good new everywhere And I awake refreshed to live again.
